ABOUT TRADE IDEAS

Trade ideas are based on Technical Events identified by research provider Trading Central. Every financial instrument is analyzed after every market close to confirm whether a new chart pattern has formed or technical indicator has triggered a signal, giving immediate insight into the possible direction of the price. The analysis is done for you, with full commentary, so you can find out what the price action is telling you.

This email was brought to you by Bell Direct, an online brokerage dedicated to empowering you, the independent self-direct investor. Trade ideas are provided by Trading Central, the industry leader providing actionable investment research products for self-directed investors and traders.
