

Your most asked EOFY questions answered

When will my EOFY report be released?

Your End of Financial Year report is generally ready by the second week of July. We'll send you an email once the report is generated and ready for your review.

Where can I get access to my EOFY report?

To access your End of Financial Year report, log in to your account, click on 'Portfolio & reporting' and your End of Financial Year report will appear here once it's ready in both PDF and Excel format.

The image shows two screenshots of the belldirect website. The top screenshot displays the navigation menu with 'Portfolio & reporting' highlighted by a red box and an arrow pointing to the 'Reports' section in the bottom screenshot. The bottom screenshot shows the 'Portfolio & reporting' page with a red box around the 'Reports' section, which lists 'Financial year summary' reports for the years 2015 through 2021.

Do you provide capital gains or loss information?

As we're a non-advisory broker, we can't provide you with capital gains or loss information. However, your End of Financial Year report details all your shareholdings and transactions, so you or your accountant can calculate your capital gains tax.

Do you provide dividend information?

Yes, we include a dividend summary section in your End of Financial Year report. This provides an estimate of the dividends you should have received in the financial year based on your shareholdings. The actual dividend amounts that were paid or should have been paid to you will be detailed in the communications provided by each company's share registry.

Where can I locate the portfolio valuation report?

You can find your personalised portfolio evaluation report for the financial year on the second and third page of your End of Financial Year report.
